

Small Distilling Units

Due to their very compact size these units are very practical, being ideal for those who would like to experiment or get started in the art of distillation. They can be used to distil liquids, such as wines for obtaining an excellent quality Eau-de-Vie or floral waters by distilling water and flower petals or other organic materials.

